

Nixon signs bill to cut speed limit

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon signed into law today a measure aimed at forcing the 50 states to adopt energy-saving speed limits of 55 miles per hour.

Nixon also signed another major bill setting up machinery for reorganizing seven bankrupt Northeastern railroads with federal loan guarantees of $1.5 billion and subsidies of more than $500 million.

Under the speed limit law, states will lose all federal highway funds unless they adopt 55-mile limits within 60 days.

Nixon said in a statement:

"I have been gratified and encouraged by the number of states which have already voluntarily reduced their speed limits in accordance with my request ... estimates indicate that we can save nearly 200,000 barrels of fuel a day by observing a national limit of 55 miles per hour."

In another statement, Nixon said he considered some of the rail subsidies to be higher than they should be. However, he termed the reorganization law "an important turning point in the history of America's railroad industry" and commended Congress "for passing such responsible legislation."

The railroad bill sets up a new United States Railway Association, a nonprofit government corporation, to borrow the $1.5 billion to set up a new rail network under a privately operated Consolidated Rail Corp.

The bankrupt railroads are the Penn Central, Central of New Jersey, Lehigh Valley, Reading, Erie Lackawanna, Boston and Maine, and Ann Arbor.

On Monday and Tuesday, Nixon placed a series of phone calls to Republicans Sens. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, Barry Goldwater of Arizona, William E. Brock III of Tennessee and John G. Tower of Texas. He also called GOP Reps. John J. Rhodes of Arizona and Robert H. Michel of Illinois.

There was no word from the White House on what Nixon and the Congress members discussed. The White House has recognized the current congressional vacation as a potentially critical time of pulse-taking by Senate and House members regarding public attitudes toward the President.

Nixon also had telephone conferences Tuesday with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, staff chief Alexander M. Haig Jr.,

assistant Ronald L. Ziegler and secretary Rose Mary Woods.

On Sunday, the Western White House had announced Nixon's appointment of his wife Pat, who is here, as member and temporary chairman of a new 25-member National Voluntary Service Advisory Council.

An embarrassed Ziegler withdrew the announcement Tuesday, saying:

"Because of Mrs. Nixon's great interest in volunteerism and the new council it was hoped that Mrs. Nixon could serve in this position. Due to an administrative error, the announcement was made before all legal and other checks were made. Under law, Mrs. Nixon can not hold a position appointed by the President."

Shooting is ruled accidental

PORTAGEVILLE — The shooting death Tuesday of J. B. McDonald, 45, by his 17-year-old nephew, Donnie McCarty, was ruled accidental today by New Madrid County Coroner Gene Clayton.

McCarty, who was held for investigation, was released from custody by the sheriff's department.

McDonald was shot once in the lower right rib cage with a blast from a 12-gauge, bolt action shotgun and was dead on arrival at Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

The shooting occurred at 4:45 p.m. in apartment No. 48 at Portage Village public housing project where both McDonald and McCarty lived with Mrs. Annie McDonald, mother of the victim and grandmother of McCarty.

According to Clayton, witnesses reported McDonald had been drinking and when

Amick-Burnett will continue ambulance

BENTON — Les D. Lankford, presiding judge of the Scott County Court, announced Monday that Ollie Amick of Illmo and Jack Burnett of Chaffee, owners of Amick-Burnett Funeral Chapels, have agreed to continue providing ambulance service until April 1.

The announcement was made after Amick and Burnett had met with the court to work out such an agreement.

According to Lankford, most funeral homes in the county had said they would no longer provide ambulance service after Jan. 1.

"After April 1, we will have to make other arrangements," Lankford

Mississippi County begins new ambulance service

CHARLESTON — The Mississippi County Ambulance Service began operations at midnight Monday and one emergency run had been made before 9 a.m. today, according to Sheriff W. J. Pedro Simmons.

Plans for the service, operated through the sheriff's office, were finalized Monday at a meeting of the County Court.

A fee of $40 will be charged per trip from anywhere in the county to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston. A trip to a hospital in Memphis or St. Louis will cost $135; to Poplar Bluff, $75; to Columbia, $185; to Farmington, $80 and to Chaffee, $50.

Henson Road, approximately halfway between Charleston and East Prairie, will serve as the dividing line for the two ambulances now in service. Lyle Scott will operate the East Prairie-based ambulance and William E. Woods the Charleston-based ambulance.

Sheriff Simmons stressed that this is an emergency service only and that the ambulance attendant will not remain at a hospital to determine if the patient was admitted.

Radio dispatchers at the East Prairie City Hall and

Charleston police department will handle all calls and dispatches.

The service will cost the county approximately $18,000 and the cities approximately $12,000 for the first year. A pro-rated breakdown on the cost to various cities and towns in the county, according to population is as follows:

Charleston, $5,930; East Prairie, $3,785; Bertrand, $698; Wyatt, $649; Anniston, $595 and Wilson City, $340. Payments are to be made quarterly by the cities.

The County Court Monday discussed the possibilities of seeking financial assistance from the county health department, which at present has $28,000 on time deposit. Of this amount $10,000 has been on time deposit since 1958, according to records in the county treasurer's office. December tax collections for the health department totaled $26,000.

2 jailed; marijuana is found

A young man and woman stationed at the Pensacola Naval Base in Pensacola, Fla., were in city jail this morning after their arrest for possession of marijuana.

Dale Robert Bottoms, 20, a seaman, and Patricia Louise Wardlaw, 20, a Wave, were arrested early this morning after policeman Brad Wilson became suspicious of Bottoms' actions.

Wilson said he was drinking coffee about 1 a.m. in a restaurant when Bottoms entered and asked where to get gasoline. Wilson told him and asked where he was from. Wilson said Bottoms was so nervous he couldn't tell him.

Wilson said he thought about Bottoms' actions and asked officer John Martin to meet him at the gas station.

When they arrived, neither Bottoms nor Miss Wardlaw were able to produce identification.

Wilson told Bottoms to drive the car to the police station. When they arrived Bottoms and Wilson went inside while Miss Wardlaw stayed in the car.

Martin stood behind the car and said he saw Miss Wardlaw push something under the seat. Martin then escorted her into the station and returned to search the car. He allegedly found a bag of marijuana under Miss Wardlaw's seat.

Also found were a smoked handmade cigarette and a roach clip, police said.

The maximum is 55

President Nixon today signed into law regulations stating that states which fail to adopt a 55 mile-per-hour speed limit within 60 days are subject to loss of all federal highway funds. The law is based on the fact that cars operate with much greater fuel economy at 55 m.p.h. than at the common 70-m.p.h. limit.

Clarkton man charged with beating 4-year-old

CLARKTON — A 35-year-old Clarkton garbage collector has been arrested and charged with felonious assault in connection with the Christmas Day beating and burning of a 4-year-old boy, Pros. Atty. Charles H. Baker said Tuesday.

Dee Wingate has been charged "with using his hands and a lighted or smoldering object" to assault young Samuel Lachance, the son of Mrs. Linda Sue Lachance, Baker said.

Wingate and the boy's mother live together in a house at Clarkton, Baker said. Samuel is the next to youngest of the woman's four children.

When a relative saw the little boy late last week, Baker said she reported it to police, who later arrested Wingate.

The child's left eye was swollen shut, his face was badly bruised, much of his hair had been pulled out, and there were numerous burns on his body, apparently made with a lighted cigarette, according to Sheriff

Raymond Scott.

The child's mother, who is expecting a fifth child, was present when the boy was assaulted, the sheriff said, but apparently was afraid to report the matter to the police.

Wingate is being held in the Dunklin County jail. No bond has been set. He is to appear in Magistrate Court Friday.

The boy is in fair condition at Dunklin County Memorial Hospital at Kennett.

The energy crunch -Part 15

Cutting speed saves gasoline and lives

By PAT GROJEAN

Slowing down on the highway can save gasoline and alleviate the energy shortage, as well as cut down on the number of accidents and promote safety.

By traveling 50 miles per hour instead of 70 miles per hour, a car will use over 25 per cent less fuel. Driving 70 miles per hour will increase gasoline consumption by 12 per cent over a rate of 60 miles per hour.

Reducing speed 10 miles per hour on highways can mean potential fuel savings of up to two per cent.

On the highway, use the speed that gives the greatest gas economy. This varies among models, but usually occurs between 50 and 60 miles per hour.

Traveling during off-peak traffic times and using routes with a minimum number of traffic lights and stop signs are also methods of conserving gasoline.

As long as traffic conditions permit, maintaining a steady speed on highways can save fuel. Varying speed by five miles per hour in the 50 to 70-mile per hour range can reduce fuel economy as much as seven to nine per cent.

Slowing down on the highways is not the only way to conserve fuel. Other methods will be discussed in the next article of this series on energy conservation.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

A man is always willing to lend a helping hand, but he does hate to lend money.

THE MESSAGE FOR ALL: KEEP ON TRUCKIN'

A truck driver's life is not an easy one. For them, the old saying about time being money is especially true.

Highway speed restrictions and fuel shortages, which necessitate more frequent refueling stops, along with higher prices for fuel when they can get it, have cut into their paychecks. Most people except possibly those motorists who have been stalled for hours on Interstates because of trucker blockades, sympathize with their plight.

Yet all of us, even if the more pessimistic predictions about the extent of the energy crisis don't come true, are going to feel the pinch. All of us are going to have to change our habits and ways of doing things, and all of us are going to be hit in our pocketbooks. The truckers just happen to have been the first to feel the impact.

It's too late to wish we had adopted the system they have in South Africa, where all intercity freight is carried by rail and truck deliveries are limited to 30-mile ranges.

If truckers are allowed to shut down such a vital part of the nation's transportation system, as a lot of them are threatening to do, what about workers whose earnings may be reduced, or jobs eliminated entirely, because of shortages of power or petrochemical raw materials?

If the protesting truckers get their way and are permitted to travel at 65 miles an hour (and there are conflicting arguments about whether diesel engines are more efficient at high speed), what about the salesman who must drive at 50 or 55 and to whom time is also money?

It's tough being a trucker. But it's tough all over, and likely will be for a long time to come.

THROWING THE WOLVES TO THE DOGS

The San Joaquin, Calif., County chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) reports that feminists in Stockton, Calif., have resurrected the Roman goddess Diana in the form of an award presented to members of the community "who have made significant contributions to the quest for women's equality."

Why Diana? Because, the California feminists say, the Roman goddess of the hunt stood for many of the same principles as feminists today. Woe be it to any man who threatened harm to any of the maidens under her protection, or looked upon the goddess as nothing but a "sex object."

Myth buffs will recall what Diana did to one young man who foolishly attempted to submit her to — as they (not the Romans) used to call — "a fate worse than death." She turned him into a stag, whereupon he was torn to pieces by his own hunting dogs.

That was the first stag show, and if any of you male chauvinist pigs think that's funny, it just indicates how much you have to learn.

As a Highway Users Federation publication reports, "Traffic accidents resulted in 56,600 deaths, 2.1 million disabling injuries and a total of $19.4 billion in costs to the American economy during 1972. This report on highway transportation losses last year is included in 'Accident Facts' ... published by the National Safety Council ... The publication also notes that the motor vehicle death rate for 100 million vehicle miles of travel decreased last year to 4.53 as compared to 4.61 in 1971."

NEW YORK (AP) — You might think that old comedians never die; they just fade away. But that's not true of Rodney Dangerfield.

A lot of people have come up the hard way in show business. But Rodney has done it twice: first as Jack Roy, a reasonably successful comic on small club circuits, and then, after a lapse of 12 years, in his present name as one of the most popular comedians on television.

Rodney was born in Babylon, N.Y., the son of a vaudeville performer named Phil Roy. At age 15, Jack Roy started writing jokes and doing imitations of W.C. Fields and Charles Laughton in amateur hour shows, where he won prizes of $1, $2, and $5. When he was 17 he worked as a singing waiter at the Polish Falcon in Brooklyn and as a "paid amateur" for eight quarters a night in a Newark club.

Now he gets $8,500 plus expenses for a single appearance:

Between the quarters and the thousands was a period when Jack Roy quit the standup comic routines to "live a normal life" as a businessman (in paint) and collect a wife and two children. But he says he couldn't help "thinking funny" and when he did, he wrote it down. Now he has what he calls "a duffle bag full of jokes" that he can dip into anytime. He estimates that he has written between 10,000 and 15,000 jokes and used 3,000. Nine-tenths of his material is his own.

He admits that it was a tough road back when he decided to become a comedian again at age 40. At age 41 he was playing night clubs in the Catskills for free and was embarrassed to use his own name. A night club owner christened him Rodney Dangerfield. Then he persuaded his agent to book him on an Ed Sullivan rehearsal and Sullivan signed him up for two shows with an option for four more. Since then the going has been "up" for Rodney.

He has appeared on the Johnny Carson show 40 times and on the Dean Martin weekly show as the comedian-owner of a night club. And he really does own a $250,000 Manhattan night club, Dangerfield's, which he opened in September 1969.

Rodney says he has turned down offers of as much as $30,000 to appear in Las Vegas. "I do quite well in my own club or I'd go to Vegas," he said. "People have a good time at my place and I like to see people walk out happy. There aren't many places left where you see people laugh. My place is probably the only one left that has a comedian working steady."

"It isn't good for a comic to hit too soon. He can't handle it. It takes a comic 20 years of walking the boards to feel at home. My night club routine involves making 150 to 200 jokes in 45 minutes. A laugh a minute isn't enough; you need three or four."

REMOVE THE GAGS!
The nation's shortage of fuel has prompted introduction
of a bill in the Missouri
legislature permitting removal
of automobile air pollution
control devices.

Offered by Rep. Donald Gann, R-Ozark, the bill repeals present Missouri law that required pollution control devices to be intact and operative for a vehicle to meet Missouri safety inspection regulations.

The bill deserves speedy passage by the legislature, and the firm support of each Missourian.
Federal law now prohibits manufacturers or dealers from removing the defices, but the federal law does not prohibit private mechanics, non dealer
garages or individuals from removing them, Gann says.

Removal of the gas guzzling
emission control devices would significantly increase gasoline
mileage on automobiles and prolong engine life.

There is no doubt that the emission control devices
contribute more to the fuel shortage than they help solve the pollution problem.

Missouri Congressman Gene
Taylor, a former Sarcoxia
automobile dealer, has called on the federal government to take immediate steps to remove, or grant permission to remove, the emission control devices on all 1974
automobiles. Taylor says he has been told that elimination of emission control devices
could save as much as 150,000
barrels of fuel a day in the nation. We hope Taylor
introduces federal legislation
requiring removal of the devices.

Taylor says a report issued by the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs
quotes an estimate by the Chase Manhattan Bank that
"one-half of the expected
growth in gasoline demand will be the result of emission control devices on late model
automobiles."

Taylor says one major car
manufacturer has stated that removal of the control device
could result in fuel savings of 6 per cent on 1974 cars alone.
Other citizens contend the savings in gasoline would be even greater. Some report almost twice as much gasoline
mileage without the device.

Regardless of how much gasoline is saved, the present energy shortage demands that the nation do all it can to save fuel. There is no doubt that removing the emission gags
from automobiles would mean
a significant savings in gasoline.
Have we in fact reduced air

pollution when we cut down
on the amount of pollutants per gallon of gasoline used, but greatly increase the total number of gallons of gasoline used because of the emission
control devices?

At a time when the nation
is considering the closing of schools, cutting off energy supplies to factories and homes, and thereby creating unemployment, isn't it time to remove automobile emission controls that gobble up huge amounts of gasoline?

State Representative Gann
and U. S. Congressman Taylor deserve the support of each Missourian in their efforts to remove gas guzzling emission control devices from
automobiles.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
White House Superspy
WASHINGTON—The White House ordered E. Howard Hunt, its resident snoop, to conduct a secret investigation,
in May 1972, of a prominent Cuban exile physician.

The subject of the scrutiny
was Dr. Enrique Huertas, whose reputation is impeccable. Yet confidential
White House documents show that the undercover Hunt was turned loose on him.

The probe was directed by one of President Nixon's staff
assistants, William "Mo" Marumoto, who was paid by the taxpayers to find jobs and grants for worthy Spanish-Americans.

Marumoto mentioned the investigation in a confidential
May 12, 1972, memo to White House aides Charles Colson and Fred Malek. "Had Howard
Hunt check out Enrique Huertas, President of the Cuban Medical Doctors in Exile," Marumoto reported cryptically. He added that Hunt had submitted a report to him.

HUNT WAS BUSY

This was a busy time for Hunt, who was running around in a silly CIA wig carrying out heavy Watergate duties against newsmen, Democrats and unsympathetic Republicans.
He is now serving time for his role in the Watergate break-in and conspiracy.

Dr. Huertas was turned over to Hunt for investigation at about the time the Cuban physician came to Washington
to visit with Organization of American States foreign ministers. He also dropped by the White House to see Marumoto.

As Dr. Huertas recalls the encounter, he mentioned the need for a grant to build a medical facility for Cubans in Miami. Marumoto, in turn,
invited Huertas to attend
several receptions being held in connection with the OAS
meetings.

Dr. Huertas impulsively refused to go, saying he didn't want to attend any OAS

functions until he could go as a representative of a free Cuba.
In retrospect, he told my associate Les Whitten ruefully:
"Marumoto must have thought, 'Who is this guy,
anyway?'"

DINNER INVITATION

As Marumoto recalls the incident, he received a call from Charles Colson's office
asking about an invitation to Dr. Huertas to attend an official dinner. The Colson aide suggested that Hunt check out the physician. Marumoto called Hunt to his office, gave him
the doctor's name and later
received a written report.

Marumoto doesn't remember what Hunt reported, except that it was summed up in one or two pages.

The discovery of the Huertas episode raises the specter of dozens of other unreported probes which may have been carried out by the White House undercover
"plumbers" squad at the whim
of anonymous Nixon staff assistants.

Clearly, the break-in at Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist,
the bugging of columnist Joe Kraft, the attempt to discredit
the Kennedys, the going-over the plumbers gave my own
operation and other publicized
"Mission: Impossible" escapades
still haven't exhausted the secrets buried in the deepest files at 1600
Pennsylvania Avenue.

FOOTNOTE: Both Colson
and Malek told us they cannot remember Huertas' name or Marumoto's memo.

REBOZO FAVORED: The President's pal, Bebe Rebozo,
sold some land to the federal government in 1969 for the Biscayne National Monument.

He received an over-the-appraisal settlement on one 12.4-acre parcel and a huge settlement on another 77-acre tract he owned jointly with three others. In contrast,
neighboring property owners
have complained to us they received single, take-it-or-leave-it offers that were far below the appraisal values.

P E N T A G O N
PRIVILEGES: We have been

support to a candidate or political party of his choice,
those critics would destroy
much of the spirit of volunteer support and public participation in elections which are necessary in our political system and, certainly, our political freedom.

NIXON 'PRIVILEGE' SEEMS EXTREME

Again citing its constitutional duty to defend the doctrine of executive privilege against "attrition" of whatever degree from whatever quarter, the administration has declined to make available to the Ervin committee tapes of presidential telephone conversations.

Because, as is now known,
all calls to and from President Nixon have been automatically recorded since 1971, the Nixon tapes presumably include conversations between him and John Dean, his former personal counsel and chief accuser at the Watergate hearings. And presumably, the tapes could go far toward proving or disproving the President's statement that he was unaware of the Watergate break-in and subsequent cover-up until late March of this year.

White House spokesmen
and others have cited Thomas Jefferson as establishing the precedent of the doctrine of executive privilege. In 1807, Jefferson refused a subpoena
issued by Chief Justice John Marshall to testify at the treason trial of Aaron Burr.

The rest of the story is not usually told. Each having made his point — Marshall, that the President was as subject to the law as any other citizen;
Jefferson, that the president
had higher duties which he could not abandon at the will or whim of judges — the two men resolved the matter
sensibly. Marshall did not press for the president to appear at the trial in person, and Jefferson agreed to turn over certain documents to the court.

President Nixon, however,
like no other president before him, has erected the concept of separation of powers into a vertible Berlin Wall which permits of no breaching. There is to be absolutely no
cooperation between the executive and legislative branches in any area which, to
the President's thinking,
touches upon the province of the presidency.

Carried to its extreme, as it was indeed carried by former Attorney General Herbert Kleinienst, this means that every one of the two million employees of the executive branch are immune from congressional scrutiny.

Many have accused the press of waging a "get-Nixon"
campaign, of trying him by innuendo and hearsay. But how can it be otherwise when the President himself will not
— or cannot — take even the most elementary measures in his own defense?

One of those measures
would be to meet privately
with the members of the Watergate committee, or just with Senator Ervin, and give the committee the information

and answers they desire and which they must have to reach a conclusion to their investigation. No violation of anybody's constitutional prerogatives would be involved
and public confidence in the government would be immeasurably boosted.

Contrarily, a presidential refusal to meet the Watergate committee halfway will only be interpreted by the public as a continuation of the Watergate cover-up.

It would be the irony of ironies if, by doggedly clinging to such a constitutionally and historically dubious doctrine as executive privilege, President Nixon were eventually to find himself unable to exercise the privileges of the executive.

The much-married couple were discussing a property
settlement, reparatory to divorce proceedings.

Finally the husband
exclaimed, "Well, that takes care of the property. Now we come to the children. You will take yours, of course, and I'll take mine. But what are we going to do about ours?"

Whether or not there should be a new Consumer Protection Agency is a highly debated issue these days.
"Unfortunately support or opposition to the CPA is all too frequently been translated into labels of 'pro' or 'anti'
consumer, and it has served only to obscure the real issues," said E. Douglas Kenna, president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

In testimony before the Senate, Mr. Kenna said the NAM supports adequate consumer protection, but opposes creation of an independent Consumer Protection Agency which would be above other agencies
and departments of the federal government.

Strengthening of existing federal agencies to act on behalf of consumers would be a more balanced, problem-
solving approach, according to Mr. Kenna. But the CPA would be essentially an exercise in inefficient government. It could not honestly serve the best interests of the consumer
as a citizen. It could only represent some consumers at the expense of others.

One consumer might wish to pay a higher price for increased quality while another would prefer to accept lesser quality in return for a lower price. A middle standard might satisfy no one, and be particularly hard on the poor.

Another important point stressed by Mr. Kenna was that a function of the CPA would be to seek "the prevention of unfair or deceptive trade practices." This is similar to the mandate of the Federal Trade Commission. Two
agencies with parallel functions
would be wasteful and disruptive. He pointed out also that there are some 36 other federal agencies which have more than 1,300 functions
protecting consumers.

The NAM supports
expanding the Federal Trade Commission's jurisdiction to cover local problems, and believes it should be granted
preliminary injunctive power.

The House of Representatives approved an 11 per cent increase in Social Security benefits which will, if adopted by the Senate, place
an even heavier tax burden on the nation's workers.

For literally millions of the nation's wage-earners the Social Security tax already exceeds their federal income tax. Furthermore, the higher payroll taxes on employers for past Social Security tax increases have forced 14 per cent of the nation's independent businesses to lay off workers, shorten work
hours or reduce starting wages for new employees. An additional Social Security tax hike, according to economic experts, can only make the situation worse.

The House plan, while still maintaining the increase of the wage base to $13,200 for 1974, boosts the benefits by 11 per cent. Instead of the one-shot July increase, however,
the House plan calls for a 7 per cent hike in April followed by a 4 per cent increase in July.

In addition, the wage base
would jump to $14,000 in 1975, $15,000 in 1976 and $15,900 in 1977.

Meanwhile, the tax rate of 5.85 per cent for each employer
and employer on wages subject to the Social Security tax would remain the same until 1977 when it would climb to 6.05 per cent. Eventually, the percentage would rise to 7.45
per cent.

Under the House's plan, the maximum Social Security tax payment would go from the current $631.80 to $772.20 —
equivalent to a 22 per cent rise
for those earning $13,200 or more per year. By comparison, in 1950 a worker earning an annual salary at or above the wage base paid out only $45 in Social Security taxes.

For those receiving Social Security, the benefits would rise as follows: a single recipient now getting $167 a month would receive $178 in April and $186 in July; a married couple now receiving $277 would get $296 in April and $310 in July.

One of the main criticisms
of the House plan is that it was rushed through without knowing its precise actuarial
impact on the Social Security Trust Fund.

Experts predict it will add close to $5 billion per year to the federal budget — a situation
the Administration wants to avoid. Nevertheless, should the president veto the bill (if it passes the Senate), most observers predict that Congress
would vote to override,
despite the state of the economy and the already heavy burden on taxpayers.

An irate employee went to the paymaster's window and laid down his pay envelope.
Carefully counting out the money, he looked the paymaster in the eye and said,
"Twenty dollars short."

The paymaster picked up the envelope and turned to a record sheet to check the amount due. Smiling broadly,
he came back to the window.
"Last week we overpaid you twenty dollars," he explained.
"You didn't complain about that."

"An occasional mistake I can overlook," replied the angry employee, "but not two
in a row!"

It is twice as hard to crush a half-truth as a whole lie.

A computer expert reveals that it would take a hundred clerks working for a hundred years to make a mistake as monumental as a single computer can make in 1/1000
of a second.

Johnny had been bad and was sent to his room. After a while he emerged and informed
his mother that he had thought
it over and then said a prayer.
"Fine," said the pleased mother. "If you ask God to make you good, he will help
you."

"Oh, I didn't ask him to help me be good," replied Johnny. "I asked him to help
you put up with me."

Boys will be boys, as the old saying goes, and it's a wise
mother who accepts this fact.
The same acceptance is the better part of wisdom for supervisors and managers, too.
Few employees are ideal — no
more than managers are — and the sooner any boss accepts
this fact, the sooner he'll get on with the business at hand.

No athletic coach ever coached the perfect team. His job is to do the best he can with the material available. The real test of any leader, be he coach or company president, is the results he can achieve with the personnel available — not what he might accomplish if only all his people were stars.

The thoughts that come
often unsought and, as it were,
drop into the mind, are the most valuable of any we have,
and therefore should be secured because they seldom return again.

PERSONAL ENTERPRISE CAN REDUCE HOSPITAL COSTS

Hospital costs have consistently led the way in the inflationary parade. This has been one of the principal factors responsible for the increasing push toward socialized medicine.

As usual, the advocates of big government insist that tax-funded, bureaucratically
controlled hospitals are the solution to the problem of rising costs, though experience has proved time and again that costs rise even faster in government programs.

Similar trends developed earlier in our northern neighbor, Canada. Now, however, in Toronto, one of Canada's largest cities, personal enterprise has been brought back into medical practice in the specific area of hospital administration, where the worst problems have existed.
The record shows that it is working.

Dr. Paul F. McGoe, former chief of surgery at Scarborough
General Hospital, has founded
One Medical Place, a personal enterprise medical care center
in Toronto. In the eight years since it was founded, One Medical Place has consistently cut both the time its patients
spend in hospitals and the time
they lose from work. They provide essential medical services more cheaply than existing general hospitals, but
with higher quality.

However, the Ontario
health ministry is refusing to grant Dr. McGoe the license
he needs to build a full-fledged
hospital at One Medical Place.
The reason, according to Milan
Korcek, writing in the Canadian Medical Association
Journal, is that they do not intend to give personal
enterprise "more of a foothold
in Ontario's hospital system."
We in the United States should learn from the success of this undertaking and not allow bureaucratic obstruction to frustrate similar enterprises in our country. HLH

Ark-Mo starts some gas cuts

BLYTEVILLE, Ark. — Arkansas-Missouri Power Co. and its Missouri subsidiary, Associated Natural Gas Co., began shutting off its "interruptible" natural gas customers this week, according to Ark-Mo President Frank G. Smith.

"Interruptible" customers, he said, are those who — in exchange for a cheaper rate — have agreed that their gas may be turned off when the system's supply is running low.

The category includes most of the area's large industries, schools and hospitals.

Smith said the cut-off was prompted by Monday's cold snap "and because our supply of natural gas will be cut by another 4 million cubic feet Jan. 1."

To date, he said, the utilities' supply of natural gas has been curtailed by about 1 billion cubic feet.

Most of the curtailments, he said, have been by the system's principal pipeline supplier, Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. The other major supplier, Texas Gas, has indicated it will begin curtailing gas deliveries about April, Smith said.

Smith said Ark-Mo had been able to forestall disconnecting its interruptible customers this long "because we have had a mild winter and because our customers have been conserving energy."

$2,000 worth of chemicals stolen

HUNTERVILLE — Approximately $2,000 worth of chemicals were taken from Monsanto Chemical Co. Monday night, according to Stoddard County sheriff's department.

Burglars broke a padlock on a rear door to get into the building.

Essex man arrested for trespassing

Gary Donald Martin of Essex Route Two was arrested for trespassing about 3 a.m. Tuesday when he entered the Paul Adams home, 108 Baker Lane.

Police said Martin had apparently been drinking and didn't know where he was. Police later found his car on Peach Tree Lane and towed it to the police station.

Other arrests announced today included Ned Tanner, Route One, speeding; Mona Carol Thompson, Box 833, assault and battery; Allen Joseph Ryan, 615 Cleveland, petit larceny; and Gregory Stricker, 912 Lake, petit larceny.

8 injured in SeMo

Two area traffic accidents Monday resulted in eight injuries, but no injuries were reported New Year's Day on Southeast Missouri roads, the highway patrol announced today.

Six persons were injured in a three-car collision at 4:30 p.m. Monday on Highway 67 four miles south of Poplar Bluff.

The accident occurred when Irvin O'Brian Nance, 20, of Poplar Bluff lost control of his northbound car on icy pavement and ran into the back of a car driven by Vickie Ann Arnold, 19, of Corning, Ark., then collided with a third car driven south by Eli Freeman Haynes, 27, of Poplar Bluff.

All three drivers received minor injuries. Also slightly injured were three passengers in the Haynes car, Karen Haynes, Erick Haynes and Corey Haynes, whose ages were not reported.

Nance was taken to Poplar Bluff Hospital. The others were taken to Lucy Lee Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

An accident at 10:15 p.m. on Highway 142 eight miles west of Doniphan resulted in two injuries.

Darmon G. Massey, 47, of Gatewood Route Six, lost control of his pickup truck which skidded on icy pavement, ran off the road and overturned.

Massey received minor injuries and a passenger, Wanda Massey, 21, of Springdale, Ark., suffered serious injuries. Both were taken to Ripley County Memorial Hospital in Doniphan.

An experienced blacksmith may shoe 10 to 12 horses during an average day, needing about half an hour each. A hard-working smith may earn $20,000 to $30,000 a year.

Ann Landers

Daughters-in-law write more letters than sons

Dear Ann Landers: Whenever you print a letter that puts a mother-in-law in a bad light, my daughter-in-law sends it to me. No comment—just the column. Otherwise, I never receive a line from her. She believes it's up to a son to write to his mother and his wife shouldn't "take him off the hook," as she puts it. My son hates to write so I rarely hear from them. I envy other grandmas who get pictures of the little ones and nice letters to cheer their lonely days. This boy is my only child and his children are very dear to me. What about it, Ann? Am I expecting too much?—Salinas, Kansas

Dear S.K.: If we took a poll I'll bet we'd find that the great majority of letters written to grannies come from daughters-in-law, not sons.

Since your son hates to write, he should pick up the phone—every other Sunday perhaps—and place a station-to-station call just to say hello. It would be the finest gift he could give you and it would cost very little.

Dear Ann Landers: I live next door to a teenage girl who deserves to be complimented. I don't even know her name, but if you print my letter I am sure she will recognize herself.

All summer long and into fall and winter, this girl has had boyfriends come by to visit her. One particular fellow is especially attractive. She always entertains him on the steps. Sometimes they walk down the street a few hundred feet and sit on the wall near the bus stop. Why? Because her mother works and I presume she has been asked not to entertain boyfriends in the house unless a parent is present.

This girl always appears to be having such a good time, and so do her boyfriends. They laugh a lot and have animated conversations. She evidently loves and respects her parents and I'll bet the boys like her more because she has such good character.

I predict one day this young lady will marry well and be very happy. There will be no regrets to bug her, and no guilt—Teen Watcher in Richmond

Dear Ann Landers: I finally know why people write to Ann Landers: For the first time in my life I have a problem I can't handle.

My husband, who makes $20,000 a year, was arrested for shoplifting $5 worth of junk. The shame I feel for him is driving me crazy. He says he doesn't know why he did it. He has never done anything dishonest in his entire life. I am completely bewildered. I am not a religious fanatic, but I now see him as a sinner—weak and foolish.

The children don't know what to make of it and I don't know what to tell them. The judge was lenient because this was his first offense and his reputation is excellent. But my confidence in him is shot. Help me put my life back together—Denver

Dear Denver: Sounds as if the man had a sudden siege of mental illness perhaps a small stroke. Please talk to a therapist or a counselor. It may be that he needs therapy—and you could use some also—to rid yourself of the hostility and anger.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers's booklet, "Booze and You—For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

BEVERLY SILLS SINGS 'BARCAROLLE'

NEW YORK (AP)—An erroneous published report said that parts of "The Barcarolle" from the opera, "The Tales of Hoffmann," were too low for soprano Beverly Sills to sing. Miss Sills, who sings all four heroines in this Offenbach opera for the New York City Opera company, sings "The Barcarolle" in the second act—including all the lowest notes.

Turning the deaf into the hard of hearing, and the hard of hearing into the almost normal—that's what we're doing in a March of Dimes-supported program aimed at teaching the deaf to speak.

In a follow-up study of 80 youngsters striking down with congenital hearing loss during the 1964 rubella epidemic, we work not only with the children but with their families—and that includes grandparents and aunts.

Because talking is our most important way of learning and expressing feelings, our approach is to get the family to talk to the deaf child, to surround him with sound from the time he is very young.

The sooner parents recognize that the child has a hearing impairment, the easier it will be to train him in communications skills. There is a simple, reliable test which parents can try with any child from three months to two years.

Distract the child visually while making a sound at the side of his head. The child with normal hearing should turn to search out the sound. If by eight months the child does not respond, he needs both a medical and hearing evaluation.

Once a hearing disability is recognized, parents should have the child fitted for a hearing aid and make sure he wears it all day. No child is too young for one. In fact, we find it is less trouble getting an infant under two used to the device than it can be later on.

Self Image

A hearing aid also enables auditory training to begin. At our clinic we encourage the child to listen for sounds in the environment—loud sounds first, softer ones later on. We also urge parents to develop his listening skills through children's records, portable radios, and reading aloud to him. It also helps when speaking to the child to say his name first so he will pay attention.

Parents needn't worry that the child will feel self-conscious about wearing a hearing aid. A child regards himself as his parents regard him. If they pity him, he will pity himself. If they regard him first as an individual with a personality, and second as having a disability, he will respect himself and not mind wearing the device.

Preschool training is a good idea in helping him prepare for the language studies offered in elementary school.

Even if the child needs to be in a school for the deaf, he should be integrated into a class with hearing youngsters as soon as possible.

Contact with normal youngsters will help the deaf child in his speech development. Language ability has a snowballing effect. The more a person has, the more he learns.

How did I become interested in this area of birth defects? One of my own children has impaired hearing from that 1964 rubella epidemic, which damaged or destroyed an estimated 50,000 infants. My daughter is a healthy, happy girl, who speaks, listens and understands. She's working at grade level in a hearing school with supportive services. Widespread immunization of children, 1 through 12, the principal source of infection, reduces the danger of passing the disease to pregnant women.

Now that there is a rubella vaccine, let me urge all parents to make sure their children get the shots against German measles. There is no substitute for prevention.

"DO YOU READ ME LOUD AND CLEAR?" Dr. Elizabeth S. Ruppert, director of the March of Dimes-supported Communications Disorders Center at Children's Hospital, Columbus, Ohio, teaches Chuckie Hammond how to use an auditory trainer. The boy suffers from congenital hearing loss caused by the rubella epidemic of 1964.

Cookson at work

The Daily Standard's 1972 "Arnold Ryan memorial" coach of the year recipient, Carroll Cookson of Advance, is shown in action during the Bloomfield Christmas Tournament. Coach Cookson, who has led his AHS Hornets to the finals of the class S state tournament the past two seasons, is in a rebuilding season after returning only one starter from last seasons state runner-up team and has four players off his once beaten junior varsity unit filling the gaps. At left, coach Cookson hands out instructions to one of his players while in the right photo, he tries a little body "english" to assist the ball into the goal.

Who's No. 1? To Ara Parseghian, there's no question about it — but Woody Hayes and Joe Paterno have other opinions.

The Daily Standard, Sikeston, Mo.
Wednesday, January 2, 1974

6

"I will be disappointed if we are not No. 1," said Parseghian, whose Fighting Irish of Notre Dame won a 24-23 thriller from top-ranked Alabama in the Sugar Bowl New Year's Eve. "I think we deserve it."

"This is the greatest victory I've ever had, and the greatest for the school," said Hayes, who has been coaching Ohio State for 23 years, after the Buckeyes whipped Southern California 42-21 in the Rose Bowl Tuesday.

"I don't know who's No. 1," said Penn State Coach Paterno, whose Nittany Lions finished a 12-0 by beating Louisiana State 16-9 in the Orange Bowl Tuesday night. "This is the best team I've ever coached, and someone will have to beat us head-on to prove they're better."

In Tuesday's Cotton Bowl, Nebraska broke loose from a 33 halftime tie to upset eighth-ranked Texas 19-3.

"I definitely feel we're the national champion," said

Parseghian, whose Fighting Irish were ranked No. 3 after a 10-0 regular season.

"We beat the leading scoring team in the nation and the team that was leading in offensive yardage. We beat a great football team — and they lost to a great football team."

The Associated Press' final poll will be released Thursday. In the last regular-season poll, the top six were Alabama, Oklahoma, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Michigan and Penn State. Oklahoma was ineligible for post-season competition, while Michigan, which tied Ohio State for the Big Ten championship, was passed over for a Rose Bowl bid in favor of the Buckeyes in a controversial vote of athletic directors.

The winning margin for Notre Dame was a combination of a missed extra point by Alabama's Brad Davis with 9:23 to play and a successful 19-yard field goal by Notre Dame's Bob Thomas with 4:26 to go.

The lead changed hands six times in the thriller. The outcome was in doubt until the closing seconds, when Notre Dame — backed to its own goal by a 69-yard punt by Alabama's Greg Gantt — came up with a daring 35-yard pass from Tom Clements to Robin Weber for a first down and was able to run out the clock.

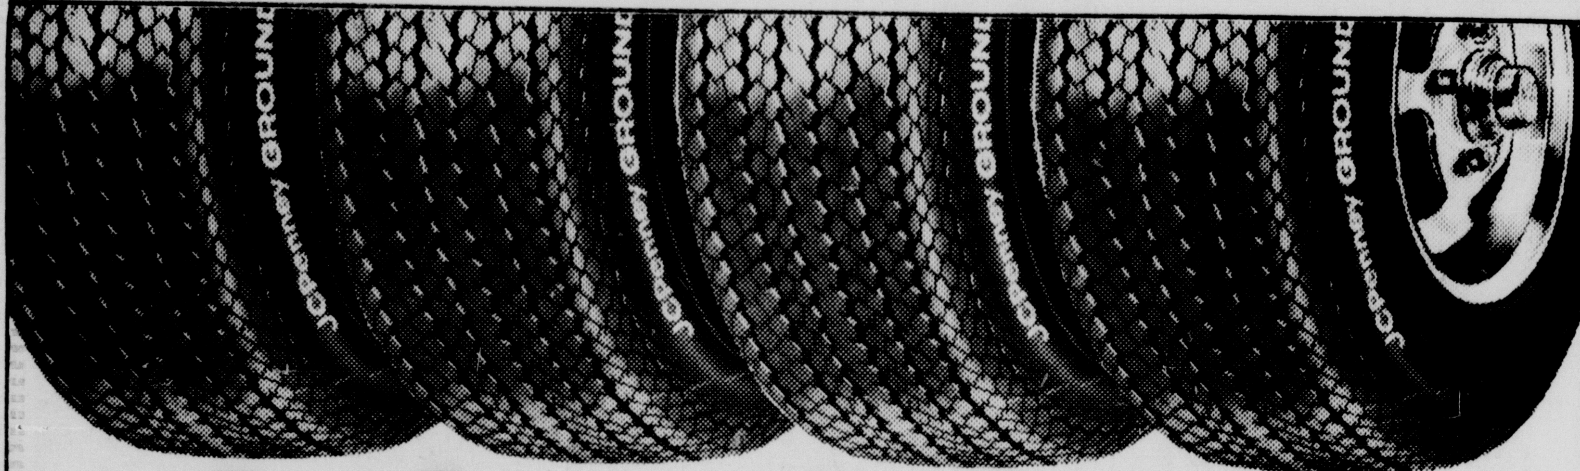

"I would have bet my life we were going to win after we had them back against the goalline," said Alabama Coach Bear Bryant. "I don't feel like we lost, rather that time ran out on us. We played as well as we could, but Notre Dame came up with the big plays when they needed them."

Ohio State got three touchdowns from freshman fullback Pete Johnson and 149 yards rushing — including a 47-yard touchdown — by Archie Griffin, but it was the surprising passing of quarterback Cornelius Greene that proved decisive.

The Ohio State performance brought an accolade from losing coach John McKay. "They are better than Oklahoma and Notre Dame," said McKay, whose Trojans tied Oklahoma and lost to Notre Dame in the regular season. Two long plays in the second quarter provided unbeaten Penn State with its 12th victory of the year.

Cappelletti, the Heisman Trophy winner, was limited to 50 yards on 26 carries by LSU.

UCLA unanimous

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UCLA remained a unanimous choice for No. 1 but Notre Dame moved ahead of Maryland into the No. 2 spot in the Associated Press weekly college basketball poll released today.

The Bruins, 8-0, ran their record winning streak to 83 games with one-sided victories over Wyoming and Michigan over the weekend. They collected all 42 votes cast by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters and had 840 points overall.

The Fighting Irish, 7-0, moved up from the No. 3 spot on the strength of a 94-79 victory over Kentucky. Notre Dame, which collected 646 points, will get two chances to unseat UCLA this month when the teams collide Jan. 19 in South Bend, Ind., and Jan. 26 in Los Angeles.

Maryland, 5-1 when the voting period ended after Saturday's games, dropped one notch to third despite breezing past Holy Cross 102-75. The Terps collected 633 points.

North Carolina, 6-0, held the fourth position with 603 points after bombing Biscayne 112-72. North Carolina State, 5-1, piled up 510 points and maintained the fifth spot with easy wins over Villanova and Memphis State.

Marquette, 9-0, held onto the No. 6 position by beating Arizona easily and slipping past Wisconsin 49-45 in overtime. Alabama, 6-1, vaulted from 13th to No. 7 by virtue of victories over South Carolina and Louisville.

Indiana dropped one notch to No. 8 after beating Brigham Young and Oregon and losing to Oregon State. The Hoosiers are 7-2. Long Beach State, with nine wins in 10 outings, jumped one place to No. 9 with triumphs over Assumption and Evansville.

Vanderbilt, 8-0 after thumping Vermont 91-56, rounded out the top ten. The Commodores were 11th last week.

Southern California, 9-1, moved up from 14th to 11th. New Mexico, 10-0, rose from 17th to 12th. Louisville, 7-2, fell from eighth to 13th. Providence, 8-2, dropped from ninth to 14th. Arizona, 8-2, and Nevada-Las Vegas, 9-1, tied for No. 15. The Wildcats were 12th last week and the Rebels were 10th.

Rounding out the top 20, in order, were Wisconsin, Memphis State, Syracuse and Austin Peay.

JEFFERSON CITY — Wild turkeys aren't migratory birds, but some Missouri turkeys are likely to find themselves a long way from home before another year rolls around.

The Department of Conservation has started trapping operations on the big birds in order to make several releases in other parts of the state.

New releases, planned for 12 hens and six gobblers each, are scheduled for Henry County near Clinton in the South Grand River bottoms, near Waverly in Lafayette County in the Missouri River hills, and on the Dade-Lawrence County line on Turnback Creek.

Supplemental releases are planned to help existing populations of birds in Cape Girardeau County west of Dutchtown and in Perry County southeast of Crosstown.

In addition, there are a number of requests from other states for turkeys in exchange, generally, for ruffed grouse, a species which Missouri is trying to re-introduce.

So far there have been requests for turkeys from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Texas and California. In some cases, the states don't have ruffed grouse, but there is a possibility of a three-way trade -- the state could trade something it has for grouse, then trade the grouse to Missouri for turkeys.

Some time back, Georgia wanted to swap Missouri some alligators for grouse. The offer was declined, politely, but with few regrets.

Turkey trapping operations generally will run through March -- close to the hunting season which normally comes in late April and early May.

The 1972-73 trapping season was the best in history because of a combination of two circumstances -- a lot of turkeys and an absence of "mast," the acorns and other nuts which provide much of a turkey's diet.

This lack of food made it easier to lure the birds under a cannon-net. Trappers got 274 birds, but all were not used in restocking operations because they didn't meet the age or sex qualifications. Those not used are banded and released at the trap site.

Over the years, trapping sites on the Clark and Mark Twain National Forests have contributed 42 per cent of Missouri's re-stocked birds. Conservation Department lands have accounted for 38 per cent, State Park Board land seven per cent and private land 13 per cent.

Most releases now are in areas which would have been considered either marginal or unsuitable a few years back, but Missouri's wild turkeys have proved themselves highly adaptable and have spread naturally into areas where the books once said they probably couldn't survive.

Supplemental releases are designed to give static or low level turkey populations a boost. The original estimate was that perhaps 60 counties could support wild turkeys -- but 63 were open to hunting last season, more will open next season and more yet have been stocked and are building turkey populations.

In 1952, just 20 years before the year of the highest trapping success, the Missouri wild turkey population reached its low ebb -- less than 2,500 turkeys remained. Hunters bagged 5,726 birds in the spring open season of 1973.

The key to the success of the turkey restoration program has been the use of wild birds as a seed stock -- hybrid or game farm birds failed miserably in early attempts -- plus the wholehearted cooperation and support of farmers and other landowners and sportsmen.

Introduction of pure wild stock, trapped in the wild, is the same system that worked for white-tailed deer and, hopefully, is the same system that will work for ruffed grouse.

In the case of grouse, Missouri doesn't have the native stock to work with and must rely on birds from other states. The problem further is complicated in that grouse are tougher to trap than either deer or turkeys, so it is harder to come by seed stock in any appreciable quantity.

But if the success of the wildturkey trapping program is any indicator, the next generation may include some grouse enthusiasts.

Department of Conservation turkey trappers are busy trying to bait enough of the wary birds to cannon net sites to satisfy requirements for several new restocking attempts in parts of the state that now have no birds or few birds. Trapping and restocking has resulted in the widespread revival of turkey populations in Missouri.

Film focuses on Hitler's final days

Champagne and cyanide capsules marked the date April 29, 1945 in Adolph Hitler's Fuehrerbunker beneath the city of Berlin. While the world crumbled above them, Hitler married Eva Braun, his long-time mistress, in a hastily performed wedding ceremony.

The story unfolds in the movie, "Hitler: The Last 10 Days", which starts Friday at Malco Twin Cinema II in Midtown Village Shopping Center.

In the presence of Joseph

Goebbels, the fuhrer's propaganda minister, his wife Magda and Martin Bormann, the head of the Reichschancellery, Hitler married fraulein Braun.

At the wedding celebration, the members of Hitler's "inner circle" toasted the bride and groom with French champagne. The conversation soon turned from nuptial congratulations to talk of suicide since the fuhrer's gifts to the members of the wedding party were little boxes containing cyanide capsules to be used at the time the Russians entered the city of Berlin.

The bizarre wedding party would be followed within 24 hours by the double suicide of Hitler and his bride. The Russian army was only a few hundred yards away when Hitler shot himself through the head and Eva bit down on a cyanide capsule.

The others in the bunker, however, did not follow in their footsteps. Only Magda Goebbels died with her

Sir Alec Guinness stars

Sir Alec Guinness, as Hitler, history's most infamous dictator, relaxes with his mistress Eva Braun, portrayed by Doris Kunsmann in Paramount Pictures' "Hitler: The Last Ten Days". The John Heyman presentation of a Wolfgang Reinhardt Production, co-starring Simon Ward, is a film drama based on the explosion-charged period in world history when Adolf Hitler's power crumbled around him. The movie opens Friday at Malco Twin Cinema II.

husband after they had supervised the murders of their five children who had been in the bunker with them.

"Hitler took the Goetterdammerung seriously," says Ennio De Concini, director of the Paramount Pictures release starring Sir Alec Guinness as Adolph Hitler. "The film focuses on the final hours of the Third Reich as played out in the vacuum world of the Fuehrerbunker beneath Berlin. "Once he knew that the situation was hopeless, he was quite willing to have everybody die with him. Hitler felt the Germans had betrayed him, and they deserved to share his fate," de Concini added.

Ark-Mo holds awards banquet at Ramada Inn

"Let us focus our attention on one of the most crucial problems facing the company...increased cost of operation," stressed Frank G. Smith of Blytheville, Ark., president of Arkansas-Missouri Power Co. and Associated Natural Gas Co., at a recent awards banquet at Ramada Inn.

Employees who received service pins included: Mary B. Brown of Charleston, 15 years; James Odom of Sikeston, 10 years; and David M. Williams of Charleston, five years.

Others eligible for awards were Jesse Hoosier of Jackson, 20 years; Doris Bollinger of Jackson, 15 years; and Doris Grebe of Jackson, five years.

Smith told the assembled personnel that major factors contributing to the increased cost of operation included high wages, increased cost of equipment and supplies, increase in interest rates, costs of complying with federal and state standards and scarcity of fuels and their increased costs.

"The loss of revenue from the sale of natural gas coupled with the national emphasis to conserve electricity make it imperative that we take remedial steps to offset the loss of electric and gas rates," he said.

In conclusion, Smith predicted a stronger, more united America will emerge from the present crisis. "I have faith in our country, in the free enterprise system of business and in the employees of Ark-Mo and Associated," he remarked.

Guests from the company's home office at Blytheville were: Mrs. Floyd Wooldridge; vice president John Germain; administrative assistant D. F. Bateman; personnel director W. L. Lovelace; development counselor Bill Inman; and supervisor of advertising Charles E. Crews.

IRS to re-examine Nixon tax returns

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service said today it is re-examining deals on the Chicago Board of Trade.

On the opening, wheat was unchanged to 1 cent a bushel lower, March 5.43; corn was 1/4 cent higher, March 2.60 1/4; soybeans were 1/4 cent higher, March 1.40 and soybeans were unchanged to 1/4 cent lower, January 5.78.

The IRS said it is re-examining the probe of the action. The IRS did not say what years would be covered by the review. But there has been controversy over the President's returns for 1970, 1971 and 1972.

The President paid total taxes for these three years of less than $6,000.

An IRS spokesman said in answer to a question that the tax agency could recover past taxes due for all three of those years, but that the statute of limitations would have expired for taxes due from previous years.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Farm commodity futures prices were irregular in early trading on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

On the opening, wheat was unchanged to 1 cent a bushel lower, March 5.43; corn was 1/4 cent higher, March 2.60 1/4; soybeans were 1/4 cent higher, March 1.40 and soybeans were unchanged to 1/4 cent lower, January 5.78.

Construction tools stolen from site

DEXTER — Ralph Burnett, who is building a house in the Gene Tucker subdivision, Ecology Acres, reported to the Stoddard County sheriff's department that two saws, several hammers, tape measures and nail aprons were missing from the building site.

The theft took place sometime between Friday and Monday, a spokesman for the sheriff's department said.

TO OUR FRIENDS IN MISSISSIPPI COUNTY & SURROUNDING AREAS

I am writing you in regard to the new ambulance Bill No. 57 which was passed by the Federal Government and also by our State Officials.

All of our free trips on our policies are now cancelled because of these new ambulance regulations that the government has passed. There is no possible way for our Funeral Home to meet these new laws for ambulances and ambulance trips. It states in our policies that IF we cannot abide by the law, these trips are voided. Also, my car trips will be cancelled because of this new Bill.

I want to thank each and every one of you for the confidence you have placed in the Shelby Funeral Homes and our employees. I am very sorry that this bill was passed.

Our Firm can still take care of the transfer of the deceased from Hospitals, Cities, or any place where death occurs.

Ambulance service will be operated by The Mississippi County Court. Ambulances will be placed in both East Prairie and in Charleston. The telephone number for this service will be published in the paper in the near future.

Again, I want to thank you for your patronage and for the confidence that you have placed in the Shelby Funeral Homes for the past 74 years.

Sincerely yours,

Cape filling stations charging 25 cents a gallon for gas

50 Years Ago
January 2, 1924
The H. & H. Fruit and Produce Co., of Cape Girardeau had rented half of the first floor of the Farmers Supply Implement Co., and has installed a large supply of the goods they will handle.

The Sikeston Chamber of Commerce has arranged with the Hunter & Gibson Indoor Circus to play Sikeston the last week in January for the benefit of the treasury of the Chamber.

Morehouse - Charlie Barnett of Morehouse returned to his work in St. Louis Saturday.

Sikeston autoists had better have their gas tanks filled before visiting Cape Girardeau. Geo. A. Bruce tells The Standard that he was charged 25 cents a gallon for gas in that city a day or two ago and protested at being held up, but had to pay it in order to have enough gas to get home on.

January 2, 1934
A plan was presented to the City Council in regular session Monday by C. L. Blanton, Jr., in which it is proposed that the city complete the arrangement for Sikeston to have an airport constructed with money available through the Government CWA.

Canalou - Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Coopage and children were in New Madrid a short time Saturday.

Pharris Ridge - Misses Mildred and Margaret Croso spent the weekend with Maxine Faries of Morehouse.

Big Opening - Mr. and Mrs. Richard Percy were Saturday night and Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Peary.

Cpl. Russell T. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Baker of Sikeston, has been listed by the War Department as receiving the Purple Heart for wounds suffered in action in Tunisia.

Harry Young, who has been employed at the Sikeston postoffice for the past eight years, is now with the Ballard Seed Co., a new company of the Dan McCoy company with offices and warehouses on Dorothy and Frisco Streets. Ben Batts of Vanduser died in St. Louis Tuesday.

Pvt. Dessie D. Rubel, now serving with Uncle Sam's armed forces at Fort Lawton, Wash., has been promoted to Private First Class, according to the Post Commander.

Mrs. J. A. Barber, 408 Matthews street, who celebrated her 81st birthday November 3, died in the Delta Community Hospital yesterday after a five week illness.

East Prairie - Funeral services for William Hilberry Forrester, 86, a retired farmer, will be held tomorrow. He died Friday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Carl Britt of Wolf Island.

Mrs. Dovie Branton of Nashville, Tenn., a sister of I. G. Lewis died this week. The funeral was held on Wednesday.

Forrest L. Rudd, new superintendent of the Sikeston plant of the International Shoe Co., has taken over new duties from W. L. Hutters, who has retired after 45 years service.

The stork was flying a bit late into Sikeston this year and the first baby of 1954 - a son born to Mr. and Mrs. John Emerson of Morley - was born today in the local hospital.

Malcolm Harrison Radcliffe, 64, of Matthews, a long time employee of the State of Missouri in the Public Service Commission and for the past three and a half years weight clerk at Weigh Station E-4, about eight and one-half miles south of Sikeston on Highway 61, died suddenly from a heart attack at his home at Matthews Thursday.

Charles Bearden Murphy, 73, of Route 1, Sikeston, died in the local hospital Thursday.

Charleston - An outstanding social event of the week was the marriage of Miss Alice Lee Burnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stotts Burnett, and Leslie Shelby Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie W. Fox, which was solemnized December 29 at the Methodist Church.

Charleston - Miss Nancy Shelby whose engagement to James Moore Thurmond, son of Mrs. Margaret Moore Thurmond of Charleston, was announced this week by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George U. Shelby of Charleston.

Nine die on

Missouri roads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Nine persons were reported killed on Missouri streets and highways over the long New Year's holiday weekend, with roadways made hazardous by snow and ice a contributing factor in most of the accidents.

The figure was four more than the state recorded during the similar 102-hour Christmas holiday. But with travel curtailed by the weather and the fuel shortage, the count was down from the 19 fatalities of the Thanksgiving weekend.

The worst single accident occurred in St. Joseph early Saturday and resulted in the deaths of three teen-agers. Philip Reece and Sharon Shubert died in the two-car crash and Merle Caine was fatally injured; he died Sunday night. All three of the St. Joseph youths were 17.

Killed Tuesday in a one-car crash near Trenton was Patrick R. Connell, 18, Sterling, Colo.

Killed Monday:

John M. Eistel, 20, and Charles J. Vann, 17, both of Maryville, in a one-car accident near Maryville, and Jack Freer, 38, Marionville, in a car-train collision at a Marionville crossing.

Killed Sunday:

John W. Lipari, 29, Grant City, when his pickup overturned on a Grant City street.

Killed Friday after the holiday counting period began at 6 p.m. was Lana Barr, 15, Affton, struck by a truck in the St. Louis suburb of Crestwood.

What's the law?

The case of the happy roller

By Jack Strauss, L.L.B.

Horace went on a vacation to the Caribbean where it was perfectly legal to engage in galloping dominoes. As it turned out, however, he did more grumbling than gambling. A heavy loser at the dice tables, he paid his losses by check and took off for home a sadder but wiser man.

Upon his arrival, however, he became even smarter. A knowledgeable friend informed him that losses incurred while playing dice were not collectible in the state where Horace lived. Consequently, he happily stopped payment on his check.

In short order, the operator of the Caribbean gambling casino sued Horace in his own back yard to collect on the vulcanized check.

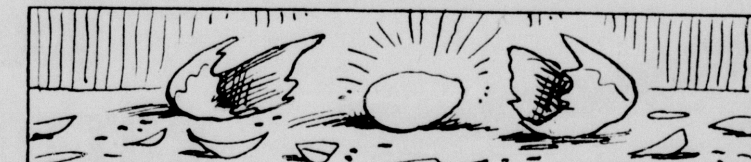

"He can't do it," insisted Horace in court. "A dice roller's debts can't be enforced in this state. It's against the law and it's against public policy."

"So is chiseling," responded the proprietor of the gambling casino. "Since it's legal to gamble in the Caribbean, Horace shouldn't be allowed to get away with playing and not paying."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make happy Horace make good on his rubberized check?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that a gambling debt lawfully incurred in a place where such gambling is permitted is not so offensive to public policy and the law of the state as to prohibit collection. My heavens, concluded the judge in effect, with lotteries, pari-mutuel betting on horse racing, etc., even states are now involved in gambling.

CORNEBEEF — Serve it hot or cold with a barbecue sauce.

Try barbecued corned beef

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Have a Deli meal! Cook corned beef on top of the range, then make up a barbecue sauce. Slather the beef with part of the sauce and bake; serve hot for a first meal. Refrigerate the remainder of the meat for good sandwich eating. The barbecue sauce that is leftover should also be refrigerated; if it lasts longer than the corned beef, serve it with cold cuts.

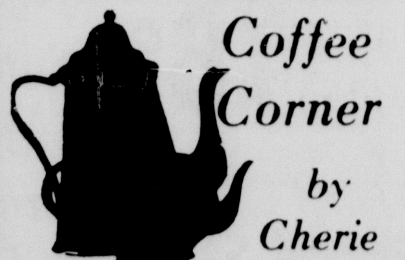

BARBECUED CORNEBEEF

4 to 6 pounds flat-cut corned beef brisket
6 whole cloves
3 whole allspice
2 bay leaves
Water
1/4 cup butter
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon dark brown sugar
1/2 cup undrained sweet pickle relish
1 cup catchup

Place corned beef in a large saucepot; add spices and enough water to cover. Bring to a boil; cover and simmer until tender when pierced with a fork — 3 to 4 hours. Cool beef in broth; drain beef and remove excess exterior fat. Place beef in shallow roasting pan.

In a small saucepan melt butter; stir in mustard. Stir in remaining ingredients; simmer sauce, stirring constantly, for 1 minute.

Spread about 2/3 cup of the sauce over corned beef; bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 30 minutes. Serve corned beef warm with remaining sauce; or chill meat, slice thin and serve cold on rye bread, spreading with remaining sauce warmed to room temperature. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Gosh, here it is 1974, and I haven't even gotten busy and made any New Year's Resolutions. However, with the world in the mess it's in today, I guess maybe I don't have to make any up myself. I can just let "the times" do it for me, and I have a funny feeling they're likely to be all kept!

Resolutions
Don't go on any trips (you might get hijacked)

Eat less meat (who can afford not to)

Do more walking and less driving (need I explain)

Take everything the politicians say with a grain of salt (maybe with the whole shaker?)

Don't burn the midnight oil (this one should be a pleasure)

Start using cloth napkins (who can find paper ones?)

Forget about starting to build anything (not only couldn't you get the lumber, but I don't believe you'd even get that pig's paper house started)

Go on a diet (and with the possibility of only "a rabbit in every pot" coming up, even this shouldn't be too difficult to keep).

Wombat Bounty

The wombat, an Australian creature that butts like a goat, shuffles like a bear and cuddles like a kitten, has a price on its head. Some estimates place the wombat population at 2,000,000.

The restaurant was bought from James and Elma Brown, who, Briggs said, will remain with the establishment for an indefinite period.

Briggs said the restaurant will be closed for repairs until Jan. 18. On reopening, it will be open six days a week from Tuesday through Sunday and will have occasional menu changes. The restaurant has been operating only five days a week, Wednesday through Sunday.

Briggs said no other major changes are planned.

World welcomes new year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS happy new year and said that Skippy gasoline supplies economic worries should not and severe winter weather kept many Americans home for a problem of world peace.

New Year's was an official holiday for the first time in England. But because of power rationing as well as tradition, it was business as usual in many department stores and factories. Britain began a three-day work week Monday to conserve energy and some firms had to operate Monday through today.

Queen Elizabeth II's Honors List for New Year's was headed by William Whitelaw, who as secretary of state for Northern Ireland got leaders of the Protestant majority there to agree to a coalition with the Roman Catholic minority.

Millions of Japanese welcomed the Year of the Tiger with visits to shrines and temples.

Orbiting hundreds of miles above the earth, America's Skylab 3 astronauts put in a full day's work after brief New Year's greetings from ground control. They conducted earth resources studies and other scientific experiments.

Some 1.5 million persons lined the streets in Pasadena to watch the Tournament of Roses parade preceding the Rose Bowl game. Chosen sweepstakes winner was a flowered float, entered by the City of St. Louis, Mo., called "Happiness is ... a Snowflake."

Snow storms plus frigid temperatures put a damper on other New Year's festivities as well as holiday travel.

In Dallas, where the mercury dipped to an unusually cold 22 degrees, attendance at the Cotton Bowl parade was about 15,000, compared with the usual average of 25,000.

The Midwest had a from 30 to 35 times their size shivering start to the new year when popped.

as a record-breaking cold wave dropped temperatures as low as 45 below zero at McGrath, Minn. A major winter storm developed in the Southwest, dumping snow across parts of Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Heavy snows and high winds in Colorado forced cancellation of some traditional New Year's Day events, including a fireworks display planned for the top of 14,110-foot Pikes Peak.

In Philadelphia, the New Year's Day parade was canceled and 16,000 costumed Mummers sent home because of a cold, drizzling rain.

The bad weather together with a near-total shutdown of gasoline stations in some areas was credited with discouraging highway travel and lowering the accident death count.

At the end of the four-day holiday weekend, the highway total was 409 fatalities, below the 470 to 570 anticipated by the National Safety Council.

Popcorn kernels expand from 30 to 35 times their size when popped.
